The City of Winslow is known as the City of Good Will offering protection, refuge, hospitality and kindliness to all those who stop within the city gates.

The Winslow police department has adopted the symbol of Tawa to express its message of good will. Each member of the police department wears as a shoulder patch this symbol of Tawa, the Sun-God, so that everyone may approach these officers for information, assistance, protection or just a friendly welcome.

The same spirit of friendship and good will will be found at the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

To the traveler, Navajo County in Northern Arizona offers a score of attractions, and is the gateway to some of the most extraordinary wonders of the world. One of the 14 counties of the state, with an area of 9,899 square miles, it extends from the Utah State line on the North more than 225 miles southward and within its boundaries are found natural wonders and scenic grandeur seldom embraced in one area.

The word “Navajo” originated from the Rio Grande Pueblo Indian term meaning “large area of tillable land”. The Navajo Country is the largest Indian Reservation in the United States, covering an area of 25,000 square miles in northeastern Arizona, Utah, Colorado and New Mexico.

Winslow, with an altitude of 4,849.52 feet, is the largest city in Navajo County. Winslow was settled in 1880 and was named after Gen. Edward F. Winslow, president of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad.

The first settler is said to have been “Doc” F. C. Demerest, hotel man, who lived and did business for some time in a tent in 1880. Shortly after this date, J. H. Breed, who for many years had a trading post and general store at Sunset Crossing of the Little Colorado River, moved down and built the first stone building. The postoffice was established January 10, 1882.

The most prominent industries in Navajo County are transportation, lumbering, livestock and agriculture. Winslow is noted for its many religious activities with 15 churches, seven schools, two hospitals, one clinic, three lumbering companies and a planing mill, plus one of the most healthful and invigorating climates in the southwest.

U. S. Highway 66 passes through Winslow and many of the world renowned points of interest may be reached by connecting highways. Twenty-two miles west of Winslow and seven miles south is located Meteor Crater. This huge crater is a bowl-shaped hole 4,150 feet in diameter and 600 feet deep.

The most spectacular manifestations of petrified wood in the world as well as the most colorful portions of the Painted Desert are included
The Petrified Forest National Monument, east of Winslow. Unique in its vivid and varied colors, this forest has attracted the interest of visitors from all parts of the world. Six separate forests within the boundaries of the monument and many regions containing fossil remains of animal life and plant life are all of great popular and scientific interest. The beautifully painted and carved badlands, formed where the colored shales have been eroded into steep ravines, rounded knolls, turreted ridges and flat mesas, no doubt suggested to the early Spanish explorers the appropriate name "El Pintado Desierto" or Painted Desert. There is a nearer view, only on a smaller scale, 4 miles east and 13 miles north of Winslow, just off U. S. Highway 66.

North of Winslow is the home of the Hopi Indians, a highly civilized race, who dwell on virtually impregnable mesas and are famous over the entire world for their sacred Snake Dance, baskets and pottery. There are nine principal towns, three each on three mesas overlooking the Navajo country. In even years the Snake Dance is held at Shipaulovi, Shungopovi and Hotevilla. In odd years at Mishongnovi and Walpi. Specific dates for this spectacular ceremony are determined by the priests of the tribe, generally late in August.

Stretching across the entire northern portion of Navajo County is the Navajo Indian Reservation, where the famous Navajo blanket is woven.

Actually, more full-blooded Indians are to be found in Arizona, still living in their aboriginal manner and in their native haunts, than in any other state. In Navajoland are many marvels—Canyon de Chelly, Monument Valley, Rainbow Bridge, and Canyon del Muerto.

Some of the most magnificent scenery in Arizona, yet little known to the hurried traveler, is the Mogollon Rim drive. Up Pine-Payson way this great escarpment is located in the Tonto and Sitgreaves National Forest. The word is Spanish, pronounced (mogoyown). The Rim is a great precipice 2,000 feet high in places and extends for more than one hundred miles east and west and overlooks the vast Tonto Basin and for that reason it is spoken of locally as Tonto Rim. The Rim drive, exclusive of side excursions, totals just over 180 miles, and is one of the most scenic trips in America. This is wild and beautiful country; big game roam this area, including elk, deer, antelope, turkeys, bears, lions and other animal life.

Northwest of Winslow and approximately a 3½ hour drive, is the Grand Canyon of Arizona, one of nature's greatest wonders. It is 212 miles in length and 13 miles in width, as mysterious as its billion and a half years of age. Rivalling the Grand Canyon, is beautiful Oak Creek Canyon, also in northern Arizona and a short distance from Winslow, over excellent highways. Members of the National Geographic Society have proclaimed this highway "the most beautiful drive in America."

Truly, the country surrounding Winslow is a wonderland, unsurpassed in historical and scenic value. Make Winslow your headquarters for seeing this "Wonderland". Every comfort is at your command—superior hotel and auto court accommodations, fine municipal swimming pool, good restaurants and stores. In the city of Winslow, a welcome and cordiality typical of the Old West awaits you!!
Holbrook, Arizona

By VICTOR PAUL RICHARDS,
Publisher, Editor Holbrook Tribune News

Holbrook came into being with construction of the railroad through northern Arizona, to become a railhead for country 100 miles east, south, and north. For 80 years it has been the meeting place for those in the livestock industry, agriculture, lumbering, Indian trading, and in later years, a center for exploration parties interested in oil, natural gas, helium, coal, and uranium. It has grown with its near neighbors in Navajo County—Joseph City, Snowflake, Winslow, Taylor, Woodruff with mutual interests, industries, education, and cultural ties. As good neighbors for three-quarters of a century, they share the attractions of the area, augment it, and add to its enjoyment.

Situated at the confluence of Rio Puerco and Little Colorado Rivers, at an elevation of 5,080 feet, Holbrook is "high and dry" with an average annual rainfall of 10 to 12 inches, a mean average temperature throughout the year of 55 degrees.

With the "wide open spaces" in all directions, pure air, an abundance of pure water, nearly 365 days of sunshine, it has proved to be ideal for persons afflicted with diseases, ranging through respiratory, coronary, arthritic, and tubercular. Thousands have found health, life and rewarding experiences in the land of clear skies, warm sun, broad expanses of desert lands, unmatched beauty and employment devoid of business pressures so common elsewhere.

Located between the large Navajo-Hopi Indian lands and the colorful Apache Indian reservations, Holbrook offers an ideal location for visits to these peoples, with their age-old customs, picturesque living, and mysterious lore. Ruins of bygone peoples, and evidences of extinct races abound in canyons, and valleys of surrounding areas.

Within easy driving distances are to be found some of the largest unbroken forests in the nation, with attendant lumbering industries; fishing lakes and streams in great number; excellent hunting of deer, elk, turkey, mountain lion and some bear, with attractive water-fowl shooting during winter months.

West of Holbrook, along the Little Colorado valley, attractive farms provide living for an important segment of the population, with expansion of farming and livestock growing in and between neighboring communities.

Modern dairies provide ample products, for the most discriminating.
Built as The Brunswick in 1883, the main part of this building served as headquarters for Commodore Owens' headquarters while he was sheriff here. It later served the same purpose for the Hashknife Gang, and was their pay station.

The Masonic Temple occupied space here from 1887 until the organization built quarters in 1916.

The Holbrook Argus, northeast Arizona's first newspaper, was printed here at the turn of the century, and Holbrook's first hospital opened here in 1934, under the direction of a later mayor, Dr. J. Minor Park.

This was the U.S.S. Arizona for U.S. Navy V-5 (pre-flight) cadets during the Second World War, and was temporarily used in 1955 and 1956 as temporary barracks for Indian children while Holbrook Dormitory was being built.

Since earliest pioneer days, Holbrook has been the gateway to the world-famous Petrified Forest and Painted Desert, as well as the Indian country. With concentration of more and more branches of federal agencies, it is becoming increasingly attractive to researchers and students of northern Arizona.

As the county seat of Navajo County, it is possible to accomplish many legal and Governmental inquiries with a minimum of time.

Sitgreaves National Forest, one of the largest in expanse in the nation, is headquartered in Holbrook. City has a first class postoffice, the only independent national bank in Arizona, a weekly newspaper, an independent radio station, motion picture theatre, country club, municipal hospital, new well-equipped clinic, small public library, public swimming pool, fraternal lodges, civic and social clubs, accredited high school, many churches, community concert association, and cable television.

Annual attractions include the "Hashknife Stampede" in June put on by the Sheriff's Posse, Horse-racing and rodeo during Navajo County Fair in September.
New-comers soon learn to appreciate the natural friendliness of Holbrook people. Every assistance is given freely to travelers or new residents in every way possible.

Travelers find a modern bus depot, junction of the Santa Fe and Apache Railroads, an airport, junction of national Highways U.S. 66 and U.S. 260, as well as State Routes 77 and the un-numbered state route connecting Holbrook with Heber, Young, Mesa, and Phoenix — the shortest route between U.S. Highway 66 and Phoenix.

As travelers' headquarters through the years, Holbrook has 23 motels, many fine eating houses, automobile agencies, garages, service stations, modern stores and travelers' services.
